The Sonthern Confederacy may not ap preciaie the difficulty, for her demagogues have loose notions of the obligations of laws of any sort; but old England must find a shadow of law for her acts. Her vast interests depend too much on international law to venture on a violation of it.

Besides, English statesmen foresee that an attempt to raise the blockade of South. nies have been organized. Take Nelson ern ports may cost more than it comes to. Close to the powder magazine there is a faucet, by slightly wicked: that nothing oculd be more ruinous to the people of the United States, if it could succeed. BARDSTOWN, Nov. 12, 1861. Col. Harney: I take the liberty to address on this letter, as you are a member of the Legislature, as well as one of the editors of the Lonisville Demoorat.

I have witnessed with regret that there is class of young men in Kentucky who ap pear to stand off and refuse to volunteer in the defense of their State, whose independ ence and honor are threatened by the invading forces of the South, aided and led on by traitors in Kentucky. The great majority of our volunteers is composed of the poor young men, the sons of humble but patriotio fathers, and of men of families in humble oironmstances, whose only support was the labor of these husbands and fathers.

those who remain have provided the means for the support of the wives and infant children of the volunteers. It is done in this mode in Indiana: Each township levies a snm sufficient to pay the wife one dollar per week, and each child fifty cents. In some instances it is done by voluntary associa-tions. At first it seemed to me that the same scheme could be adopted in Kentucky by would not be just. In many of our most wealthy counties we have very few volunteers. In some, I am informed, no compacounty as an instance. I do not suppose that five married men have joined the army of the United States or of Kentucky as volunteers from that county, and if she is left to support the wives and infants of her volunteers with her wealth, she wonid not be taxed one hundred dollars, if so much; least, 300 volunteers.

Iron-Cad Mississippi Steamers. The Sc. Louis Democrat, in its local columns, gives the following description of an Mississippi :

THE IRON-CLAD STEAMER "BENTON." Before attempting a description of this iron-clad steamer or gunboat, its lightness of draft entitles it to the latter name, we may inform our readers that Commodore Foote, of the Mississippi Navy, has fully determined that it shall be his flag steamer. This fact is demonstrative of her fitness for service on the Western waters, and of the strength and completeness of her build, and s certainly a compliment to her builders. Messra. Daggett & Morse. It is worth while stating it as a coinci lence that this gunboat was originally one of the famous snagboats -the Thomas H. Benton-built by the government at an immense cost, and soon after wards, without any service having been donby them, sold for, a despicable sum. This is he way the people's money used squandered; but we may hope the Benton, as a war steamer under Commodore Foote, will make up somewhat for the remissness of a weak and wicked administration of past days. It was bought, we believe, by the Western Wrecking Company, and became that huge ooffer dam concern well known on the river as the Submarine No. 7. We believe the Submarine No. 7, when completed, cost the Wrecking Company $75,000-a sum much iarger, we fear, than she ever brought her owners. However that may be, our Connty Courts. Upon reflection, this she was sold to the government, for what sum we have not learned, and since then has become a tremendous engine of war. The government was, doubtless, wise in purchasing the Submarine No. 7. Eight weeks ago, D. & M. floated it upon their docks, and they have had two hundred against an invasion from France. men at work upon her constantly, including Sundays-the last being the seventh Snnday. In a dark place beneath the gun deck, there is one of the celebrated Gwin pumps, capable of throwing sixty barrels of water per minute. We hardly think the pump will ever be used on board the Benton. Her hull is too thick, and its covering too tough for any rapid snag or swift-winged missile to penetrate. Either may strike, but both will slike fall back, broken and harmless. The object of the expedition will become more fully understood when the efficial report is published, and the friends of our government will then more fully compre-hend what a complete and brilliant victory our brave soldiers achieved.

Information was received here of the intention on the part of the rebels to send an expedition into Missouri. This, if allowed, would endanger the success of the expedition from Commerce. Accordingly orders were issued to Gen. Smith, commanding at Paducah, to move with his forces to within twelve miles of Columbus, and wait for further orders. A sim.lar order was also issued to Col. Cock, commanding at Fort Holt, Ky., to move in the same direction, and within twelve miles of Columbus, and also wait till further orders These movements being made as a feint against Columbns, were intended to the troops here, made the attack on Be'mont.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Hostetter's Bitters.

There is no more valuable article in the whole cat alogue of domestic remedy than a vegelable toulc. It gives activity to the digestive organs. It increases the appetite. It enlivens the spirits, invigorates the mind strengthens the body, and in short, if judiclously used wakes up the whole system to a wholesome cognizance of its own powers, and a renewed disposition to exert them. Among the lonics of the day, HOSTITTER'S BITTERS, manufactured by Hostetter & Smith, at Pittsburg, Pa., may be set down as deservedly the most popilar. They are a pungeul, live'y, palaiable tonic, not apleasantly bitter, nor yet excessively apirited, and their medical effect is perfectly surprising. No family can conveniently do without a bottle. It should be found in every closet. It is both useful and agreeable. New York Atlas, Aug. 14, 1339.

A STARTLING EXPOSITION -The Chicago Tribune, heretofore among the steadfast and earnest friends of Gen. Fremont, devotes five columns to an exposition of military affairs in Missouri, making disolosures far more damaging to the "Path Finder" than anything yet divulged through the base of operations that he has felt before. agency of Adjutant General Thomas or the Congressional Committee lately sitting at felt the most profound security. They are St. Louis. We make the following ex-

"Early in the campaign Mr. Bross, of our editorial corps, went to St. Louis, Ironton, Cape Girardeau, Cairo, and Paducah. He returned with a report of the goinings on that was doubtful and unsatisfactory. Later, would have felt before. He will be dis- and about the time the army moved west, after the needless sacrifice of Mulligan and his command, Mr. Medill went from St. Louis to Jefferson City, and along the road to Sedalia and Georgetown. Ho left home CONNOISSEURS an ardent admirer of Gen. Fremont, and a disbeliever in the reports prejudicial to his excited no little commotion among our readers, testify the sincerity of his convers'on to the opposite opinion. When the congressional committee charged with the duty of examining into army and navy contracts went to St. Louis, Dr Ray wen down to endeavor to get at some of the facts developed. His private letters contained matters of such moment and so prejudicial to the management of the Department that Mr Soripps, fearing that he had been mis led by interested parties, deemed it his duty to see himself what foundation there was fo the traitor? Profound secrecy was main-the charges, and he went down. Thus the tained towards loyal citizens (and very editorial proprietors of the Tribune, who are to suffer by a mistake in this grave matter, have one after another been on the ground, personal observers of the state of the Department. inform you what Ds. WEAVER'S SYPHIS and Co.

Mesers. J. N. Harris & O., Concensual, Obio.

GENTLEMEN—I decen it a duty. Chica and it as a pleasure to inform you what Dz. WEAVES'S THE AND CE-RATE has done to me, and hope this letter may come to the notice of persons similarly affilted. In the year 1850 I was attacked with letter or some ki. fred disease, on both my legs, which extended until from my knees to my teet was one raw sore. I consult a and obtained medicines and prescriptions from nearly and he physicians in this vicinity, but obtained no ended to have agent at this place. Mr. Hoffman, recommended me to try the S. rup and Cerale, which I fortunated ind, and am now a sound and well man by their use.

With great gratitude, I remain yours truly.

Mr. Weirbanght being a well known pentleman of Ashland co., makes this information most reliable. By taking the Byrop as directe, it will drive the disease from the system, and when orea only the skin, and wen place only the skin, and we applications of Dr. Weaver's Cerate or Ointment, and you have a permanent curse.

a few applications of Dr. Weaver's Cerate or Ointment, and yon have a permanent cure.

The CERATE has proved itself to be the best Ointment, and yon have a permanent cure of Cld ment ever invented, and where ouce need it has never been known to fall of effecting a permanent cure of Old Sores, Tetter and Ringworm, Scald Head, Chillblaine and Frost Hites, Barbers' Itch, Chapped and Cracked Hands or Lips, Elotches or Finnles out the Pace. And for Sore Eyes and Sore Nipples the Cerate is the only thing required to care. It should be kept in the honse of avery family.

Commodore Dupont's official dispatch to Secretary Wells contains nothing of additional interest, being merely a short narrative of events Accompanying the dispatch were several trophis captured, viz: flags and two brass cannon lately belonging to the State of South Carolina. A list of casualties wonnded, 81. A letter to Secretary Wells from Com. Dupont says that since making his official dispatches he had sent gunboats to Beanfort to take possession of the town and prriect the inhabitants, but they found the place abandoned to the negroes, who are reported to be in a lawless condition. The following is an extract from a private letter from an official engaged in the bembardment:

Our success has been comp'ete, and terror reigns over the whole country. The negroes are wild and plundering their master's houses. The whites have been driving the negroes away by force and shooting 'hem diwr, but they will come to the gunboats. The moment General Drayton took to his horse, during the panic of the 7th, his 200 servants went directly to the Wabash. This ls worthy of notice, as putting down the noncense that the slaves were ready to fight for their masters. They surrounded Capt. Ammen in crowds at Beanfort, one of them oalling out in the joy of his heart, "I disn't think you could do it, Massa."

General Sherman's report to Adjutant General Thomas has been received. sys: It was agreed between Commodore Dupont and himself to first reduce the works that might be found at Port Royal, and thus open the finest harbor on the coast Hatteras. He says that the squadron had been almost entirely dispersed by the gale, and the vessels have been straggling in, up to this date.

The transport steamers Union, Belvidere, Osceola and Pesrless have not arrived. One of them is known to be lost and it is probable all are. It is gra'ifying, however, to say, that none of the troop transports connected with the land forces are lost, though the Winfield Scott had to sacrifice her whole cargo and the Rosnoke a portion of hers, to save the lives of the regiments on board. to save the lives of the regiments on board.

After a careful recomnoiseance of Port Royal bay it was according that the rebels had three field works of remarkable strength, strongly garrisoned and covered by three gunboats, besides strong land forces, which the vehels were concentrating at Charlesian the rebels were concentrating at Charleston and Savannah. It was deemed proper to first reduce the fort on Hillon's Head. though to do this a greater or less fire might have to be met from the balteries on Bay Point. At the same time our original plan of co operation of the land forces in this attack had to be set aside in consequence of the loss, during the voyage, of the great portion of our means of dissmbarkment, together with the fact that the only point where the treops should have been landed was five or six milss from the anchoring place of our transports-altogether too FINANCE AND TRADE. great a distance for successful debarkation with our limited means. Latest from Springfield, Mo.

[Special dispatch to the St. Lonis Republican] HEADQUARTERS WESTERN DEPARTMENT,

CAMP LYON, SPRINGFIELD. Me., Friday, November 8, 1861. Nothing new here, and the camp very quiet, though anxious to know in which direction the next military movement will

A grand military council was held at headquarters yesterday, in regard to the future conduct of the campaign, when the question of a forward or retrograde movement was extensively discussed. No decisment was extensively discussed. No decision was arrived at, but it is understood that Gen. Hunter will make it known sometime. The general opinion is that the army will return to Sedslia in a day or two, and thence to St. Louis and down the Mississippi; while ethers, who assume to know declare. while ethers, who assume to know, declare that Hunter will speedily advance to Cassville, where Price's army is now encamped. Quartermaster Schaeffer has received an order from Gen. Hunter to prepare transportation, so as to be ready for the move-ment of the army at a moment's warning, which would seem to indicate a forward movement, as there would be abundance of leisure for a march to Sedalia at any time. General Siegel, it is said, desires to be left here with command of 10,000 men; but this would be difficult, owing to the lack of keeping the roads open; while Pope thinks it would be well to protect Rolls and Sedstis with 4,000 men each, and retain means for transporting 20,000 troops.

Scouting parties continue their depredations on Union farmers south of this place, and last night a parly of rebels burned a number of hay-stacks and crops gathered in the field, threatening to destrey dwellings and cut throats by wholesale. An expedition will be sent out to day by Bunter to drive off these parties. A company of rebels took two Unionists prisoners last night, fifteen miles hence. A military hospital is soon to he arcoid at Georgetown. Schalie, or some other point on the Pacific railway.

A gentleman of position declared here to-day that measures for a compromise were under consideration now at Washington, and that peace would be declared before the close of January; that the reported order from Washington for Hunter to retrace his steps to the railway, was part of this measure. Of course, his statement finds no credit in camp. The ten members of Fremont's body guard, reported missing, all returned here last evening, and will leave this afternoon W. W. Weaver and W. S. Bell, of the let Missouri Cavalry, and Ford Geary, of the Irish Dragoons, are among the returned

The released prisoners say they were generally well treated by the rebels, but that some of the privates insulted and threatened them. They reached Cassville on the Tuesday following the fight. Price and McCulloch, the Guards think, have about 30,000 men, and some four or five thousand Indians, though the prisoners saw The rebel artillery is probably about 30 pieces, Price having received twelve can-non recently from Memphis, whence they are obtaining other supplies. The Secession army is wretchedly clothed, and a great many are nearly barefooted. They have no uniforms, and we cannot distinguish the privates from officers, who have no control over the men. The rebel troops have no discipline, and are determined to fight as individuals.

Price, if we reach Cassville, will probably retreat further, and take his stand on Crane creek. The rebels have no intention of meeting us in open field, believing that our artillery would defeat them. They intend to fight us in the guerrilla fashion

Tue Secession forces have au abundance of beef and soft bread at present, with a little salt, but they will soon have trouble inforaging successfully. They declare that Gens. Johnson and Hardee have been marching for some time past on St. Louis, and they believe that your city is now in the hands of the rebela, which is the gan. and swort. As a dictator their leader thrusts kitus field in a few days, but it is believed that the leaders have no idea of making any attack here. Emmet McDonald, of St. Louis, commands a rebel bettery near Caseville

A large number of the Att they were home if they could, but are deturred by believing that they will be shot or hanged by onr Government.

The rebels assume to think they can easily whip us, but the leaders evidently entertain a grave doubt on the question. They have a few muskets, but do not like them, preferring their shot guns and rifles. They say they expect fifteen thousand men from Arkansas, and latead to winter in St.

thousand Texan and Arkansas treops with McCulloch. Lieut. Connelly, of the Irish dragoons. wounded on the 25th ult., has since died in the hospital here which is still in the vicinity of Cassville, where they will doubtless retrest without giving battle as soon as they learn of the approach of our forces. As the rebels are nearly all on horseback and very wary, there is small hope of our troops being enabled to pursue them with success, and little else can be done at present than to drive them from Missouri.

There is every reason to believe a step ill soon he taken that will compel the State new field for the display of their much boas'ed valor. It is established to a certainly, that Price would not attack our army if it remained in Springfield for six months. Nothing but the greatest at vantage in numbers and position gives the rebel chief the heart to fight; he will never meet us on anything like equal ground or equal terms. The rebel scouting parties are still commliting depredations to the south of this, burning hay, grain and corn fields, to prevent our troops from obtaining sustenance on their Scuthern march.

In the council of war on Thursday even ing, Generals of Division warmly advocated an advance to the South, sithough the Administration favors the withdrawal for the present of most of our troops from this part of the Stage, having much confidence in a new programme, which it would be improper to disclose. J. H. B.

A mysterious murder took place in a train on the Grand Trunk railway, between Detroit and Ridgeway, on the night of the 24th ult. While the oars were under full headway a gentlemanly appearing individual came up the aisle, and without saying a word draw a revolver and fired three times at a stranger sitting on a sest with a Mr. McLeod. Of course he was instantly McLeod. Of course he was instantly killed. The murderer then inquired of Mc. McLeod if he was a friend of the victim, to which he replied that he was always the friend of a dying man. The revolver was then laid down, and the conductor coming along, asked him what he did that for. He eaid: "There lies my revolver with three more balls in it; take it and do what you please with it. I am satisfied now. If you know your business you will take this dead man and myself to Canada, and there you will find out all about it." The assassin called himself McDonald, and said that both himself and the man he had killed were ATTENTION, IRISHMEN! Scotchmen. He appeared to take the mat. er very coolly, producing a cigar and light ing it as if nothing had happened. The conductor and another person took charge of him afterwards on the cars. What became of him in the end is not stated.

when in operation, run with the greatest case and rapletty, and are better adjusted for general purposes and amily use than any other. They are not liable to get out of order, are exceedingly simple, and are made expressly for real practical utility; trey do every variety of sowing, from the fine-t woven tissue to the heaviest woolen goods, both tailoring and fine leather work.
Any person may learn to operate them in a very short time.

Any person may learn to operate them in a very short time.

The great difficulty with all other old-strie Machines too much complication, requiring so much constant adjustment, and such an amount of mechanical skill and ingenuty to use them to advantage, as to render them of little comparative value.

But the zewing Machines manufactured by Greenman & True are not liable to these objections, as any person, on even a moment's examination, will readily discover. They will do more and better work than any other Machine ever offered to the public, making the most beautiful lock-citich, alike on both sliles. Send for an on-hand specimen of sewing upon any majerial you wish, and you will then see hole it is done.
